AUTHORIZERS In Action

Oakland Unified School District: Bridging Divisions Through Transparency & Trust

Long before he was elected to the Oakland Unified School District (OUSD) Board of Education in 2020, Board President Mike Hutchinson was staunchly and publicly opposed to charter school expansion in the district.

“My line will always be that charter schools are not public schools, so I don’t want our public school resources to be used for charter schools,” explained Hutchinson.

“That’s the philosophical line that I hold.” ...[\[READ MORE\]](#)

Keeping up with CASI

The Charter Authorizer Support Initiative (CASI), which CCAP implements in collaboration with the Santa Clara County Office of Education's Charter Schools Department on behalf of the California Department of Education, is making great progress in engaging school districts and county offices of education that authorize charters. Participation in monthly Charter Chats at 10:00 a.m. on the last Wednesday of the month, and in quarterly trainings, keeps growing. At this point over half of California Authorizers have participated in a CASI event. Recordings and accompanying resources are available on the CASI website.

CASI is taking the show on the road! Might authorizers in your county or community be interested in a local onsite opportunity for training and networking? CASI can provide a free overview training and/or a training focused on authorizing challenges of particular local importance. Got mostly small districts with "dependent" schools? OK. Nonclassroom based programs? Check. Financial oversight for those without financial backgrounds? We'll be there. An authorizer training also could be paired with an additional training for charter leaders to connect more about authorizing.

Plans already are underway for upcoming events in Tulare, Kings, and Humboldt Counties. If you'd like to brainstorm, reach out to CASI.

Update on Fraud Prevention Initiative

The broad-based, statewide Anti-Fraud Task Force initiated by CCAP is finalizing recommendations for the deterrence, detection, and prosecution of fraud in charter schools and California's larger public school system. The recommendations will address support for more universal implementation of existing sound practices, ensuring that all stakeholders know where to seek help when something doesn't seem right, and more systemic changes that require the attention of policy-makers. The Task Force hopes to release its report this month.
